Net Game, a premier pickleball club, is opening its doors in Chicago's western suburbs this spring!

Located in Westmont, Illinois, Net Game features 9 indoor temperature controlled, true surface pickleball courts with a multitude of programs such as open plays, leagues, lessons, drills, clinics, and tournaments for all ages. With more than 32,000 square feet, Net Game can offer its members such additional amenities including an upper level mezzanine with 360 degree views of the courts, beautiful locker rooms, private event spaces, a fully-equipped pro shop, a Grab and Go Bar for quick eats and a full service bar for those members who want to grab a drink and stay for a while in the indoor beer garden.

Net Game was founded by two local women, Dorothy Foster and Jill Livingston, who call Clarendon Hills home. They are both moms and former lawyers who are turning their love of pickleball into their new profession.

"We love pickle too much to just play it in the summer so why not bring pickleball inside so we can play it all year long," says Foster.

According to a 2023 survey by the Association of Pickleball Professionals, there are 36.5 million Americans who play pickleball. It is the fastest growing sport in the US because it is easy to learn, fun to play and inclusive for all ages. Plus, pickleball's open play format allows people to jump in a match and enjoy the competition at any level.

"Net Game provides a fun, social atmosphere to improve your pickleball game and promote an active, healthy lifestyle," says Livingston.

Net Game offers several different levels of membership, whether you are a seasoned pickleball player or just walking onto the court for the first time. Membership prices are tiered based upon use and start as low as $89/month (plus an initiation fee) and there are different pricing options for couples, families, and the snowbirds in the community.
